

Australian Government
Department of Industry,
Innovation and Science

Business
Entrepreneurs' Programme

MANAGING YOUR BUSINESS DURING CHANGING TIMES

Insights into the evolving requirements of the natural gas sector

The natural gas sector provides opportunities for local businesses, as one part of a diverse local economy. This session will provide insight into the evolving requirements of the natural gas sector and practical ways businesses can prepare to take advantage of opportunities the sector brings.

The agenda will cover:

James Scotland

Entrepreneurs' Programme Project Manager

Local, national and global business trends and emerging environments that businesses must adapt to in order to thrive.

Bill Langin

General Manager (Upstream), Shell's QGC Business

An overview of Shell's QGC business in the Surat Basin, his vision for future operations and what are important capabilities and competencies for working with the business.

Bronwyn Reid

Director, small business mentor and author 'Small Company, Big Business'

Bronwyn helps small businesses become effective and profitable suppliers to large organisations.

Bronwyn will deliver a workshop on practical ways to systemise your business, communicate and develop relationships with big business and measure the results.

EVENT DETAILS

26 FEBRUARY 2019

Club Hotel Chinchilla
131 Heeney Street
Chinchilla QLD 4413

Arrive 7:30am for
8am - 12pm session

Proudly supported by Shell's QGC business

For more information on this workshop, please contact Greg O'Connor on 0412 062 676.

REGISTER HERE